CORRY O'LANUS EPISTLE.

SHOO FLY.

You have no doubt heard the popular song of the period.

Which is "Shoo Fly, Don't Bodder Me."

All the newsboys sing it.

All the other boys sing it.

They play it on the hand organs.

Young ladies play it on the piano.

Everybody is playing, singing, or whistling it.

There is no escaping it.

It is "Shoo Fly" everywhere.

They have Shoo Fly neckties.

Shoo Fly caps, Shoo Fly scarf pins, Shoo Fly everything.

In summer time we expect to put up with the fly nuisance, but in winter we ought to have some relief.

Fortunately for the author of this ditty, he is unknown.

If he wasn't there is no telling what an exasperated public might do.

There are limits to human endurance.

It must have been written by some insane negro minstrel, who was haunted by some spectral fly that he may have some time swallowed in his whisky.

But why should he inflict this fly on us, and keep us Shoo ing him forever?

Now, just read over the words of the song, and say if any sane man could have written it.

He commences with "I feel, I feel, I feel, I feel like a morning star."

When he commenced, he evidently didn't know what he felt like, and kept up the repetition until he thought of something, and he happened to think of a morning star, though why an evening star or a comet wouldn't have done just as well.

How does a morning star feel?

Having been up all night, it possibly feels a little hazy, and perhaps that was the condition of the author and makes him feel so nervous about the fly.

His adjuration to the fly is not to bother him, would be intelligible if he didn't assign such an absurd reason for making the request.

He says:

"Shoo Fly, don't bodder me,
'Cause I belong to company B."

A reason which no insect could be expected to comprehend.

Or any other man.

What should a fly care for company B, or any other company?

Company B may have had a great reputation as fly-killers, but I never heard of it.

That is all there is in the song.

Its sublime idiocy completely upsets the intellect, and we have to give Shoo Fly up as an incomprehensible mania that has seized on the musical portion of the community.

"Music hath charms to soothe the savage,
To rend a rock or bust a cabbage."

But can't music be linked to sense?

I know it is hard to get mere words to be kept up to musical notes.

Our choir sometimes gets into difficulties with the words which won't harmonize with the notes.

Like true artists, they stick to the music, and the English language has to suffer.

They think nothing of stretching 'glory' to a word of six syllables, and as for 'hallelujah,' there is no limit to its elasticity.

Any person who has doubts of the flexibility of the English language, should go to a church where they keep a fashionable choir.

On the operatic stage they give the preference to the Italian tongue, and it is a good idea, because nobody tries to make out what they are singing about, and it is just as intelligible as singing in English.

The composer who first boldly let plain English slide, and launched in a chorus of "tural li lural, ri tural li lay," cut the Gordian knot at once, and opened the dor to an absurdity.

Even in this direction, the musical invention was limited to "fol de lol lol, fol lol de di day,' and 'rum te addity, bow wow wow," until a minstrel genius struck out the stunning chorus of "Sing song, Polly, won't you ki me, oh."

To learn that was something of an achievement—it was a stroke of incoherent genius—and still casts Shoo Fly in the shade.

It dosn't do to have the words of a song too sensible and intelligent; the musical mind wants something simple.

Some people can't learn long verses.

I knew two men who were both struck with that touching melody "Pat Malloy," when it first came out.

One had a good voice, but no memory he could remember the tune, but not the words.

The other had no voice but his memory was good.

They struck a partnership—one was to do the words the other the melody, and give it as a duet.

I don't know how they made out; they rehearsed in private, and hadn't it sufficiuly perfect to pertorm in public when I last heard of them.

That's how it is I suspect why Shoo Fly has been adopted—it does not strain the intellect to remember the words.

A minister in Brooklyn has introduced it in church, by observing to his hearers, in a moment of pious inspiration, that he "felt like a morning star," and I shouldn't wonder if the organist of his church had bought the music with the view of arranging it for a voluntary.

If it should become popular in fashionable churches, and there is no telling but it might, as Offenbach is getting stale, the variations of the operatic choirs will do something towards scaring that pesky fly away.

I knew an American citizen of the old school, who told me sadly that he had lost all respect for that good old national air, Yankee Doodle, after hearing Ole Bull play it on his fiddle with variations.

Yankee Doodle had become so dislocated in the performance, that in his mind it never would come together again.

What can't be cured must be endured, and we must endure Shoo Fly until it ceases to float on the wings of popularity.

The public taste, musical and otherwise, is fickle. It craves variety, and in time will get tired of feeling like a morning star, and "Shoo Fly" will go "Up in a Balloon" with "Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines," "Champagne Charlie," and other played out musical afflictions.

BEAUTIFUL CHILD.

BY MAJ. WM. A. H. SIGOURNEY,

Beautiful child by thy mother's knee,
In the mystic future what wilt thou be?
A demon of sin, or an angel sublime—
A poison Upas, or innocent Thyme—
A spirit of evil flashing down
With the lurid light of a fiery crown—
Or girding up with a shining track,
Like the morning star that ne'er looks back,
Dauntless dreamer that ever smiled,
What wilt thou be, my beautiful child?

Beautiful child in my garden bowers,
Friend of the butterflies, birds and flowers,
Pure as the sparkling, crystalline beam,
Jewels of truth in thy fairy eyes beam,
Was there ever a whiter soul than thine
Worshiped by love in a mortal shrine?
My heart thou hast gladdened for two sweet years
With rainbows of Hope through mists of tears—
Mists beyond which thy sunny smile
With its halo of glory beams all the while.

Beautiful child, to thy look is given
A gleam serene, not of earth, but of heaven,
With thy tell-tale eyes and prattling tongue,
Would thou couldst ever thus be young.
Like the liquid strain of the moking bird,
From stair to hall thy voice is heard,
How oft in the garden nooks thou'rt found
With flowers thy curly head around!
And kneeling beside me with figure so quaint,
Oh! Who would not dote on my infant saint?

Beautiful child, what thy fate shall be
Perchance is wisely hidden from me.
A fallen star thou mayst leave my side,
And of sorrow and shame become the bride—
Shivering, quivering through the cold street,
With a curse behind and before thy feet—
Ashamed to live, and afraid to die;
No home, no friend, and a pitiless sky!
Merciful father, my brain grows wild,
Oh, keep from evil my beautiful child!

Beautiful child, mayst thou soar above,
A warbling cherub of joy and love,
A drop on eternity's mighty sea,
A blossom on life's immortal tree—
Floating, flowering evermore
In the blessed light of the golden shore;
And as I gaze on thy sinless bloom
And thy radiant face, they dispel my gloom—
I feel He will keep thee undefiled,
And his love protect my beautiful child.

ANNA DICKENSON AT THE SOLDIER'S HOME.

When she turned to the veterans, her beautiful eyes filled with tears, which she tried in vain to fling away with her white, jeweled fingers, and then, after a half sob: "I knew when I was asked that I could n't talk to you, but I can cry with you!" Had it been mere acting it would have been perfect, but everybody saw how truly womanly it was, and—it was the best thing that has happened in that way at the soldier's home. It made other people not used to the melting mood, whip out their handkerchiefs. The women in the audience cried like women, and the men—fell very much in love with Anna.

After this perfectly happy episode, Anna was herself again. Eloquence flowed as free'y from her charming lips as water from Horeb when the rod of inspiration opened the rock. She reminded the gallant men before her of the struggles and trials of their warfare, of the cause which enlisted their services; of the principles for which they bled; of the honors they had won; of the gratitude to which they were entitled, and of the love they commanded from good women and good men. Full of passionate earnestness, she had the veterans at one moment, roaring with the mighty voices of soldiers in victory, then weeping like women. The scene was hard to describe, though delightful to witness and to feel. Anna, as a woman surpassed all she had ever accomplished as the advocate of the cause which has engaged her eloquence for so many years. Nobody could describe the enthusiasm of the veterans.—Dayton Journal.

JENNY LIND AND THE HOOSIER.

The following anecdote of the great songstress related by Miss Logan in her interesting volume, "Before the Footlights and Behind the Scenes," we never before saw in print:

A lady in whom I have the fullest confidence relates, as an actual fact, the story of Jenny Lind and the Hoosier. She tells me that during her march of triumph through this country, and after her visit to Cincinnati, where she captivated all hearts, Jenny Lind found herself in the (then) small town of Madison, Ind. Mr. Barnum had made an arrangement with the captain of the mail steamer which plies between Cincinnati and Louisville, to have the boat lie by on the Indiana shore long enough for the divine Jenny to give a concert at Madison.

The largest building in the town having been prepared for her reception, an auction of tickets took place in the hall on the morning of her arrival. The capacity of the building was fully attested by the anxious Madisonites.

'Coming through the Rye' was given first. This was followed by 'Home, Sweet Home,' and who can describe the marvelous effect of that song, as rendered by Jenny Lind? The famous 'Bird Song' was then the popular air of the county, and it was given as the concluding piece on the evening in question. The last line of the song ran thus: "I know not, I know not, why I am singing,' and Jenny gave it with her full power. At this moment a genuine Hoosier, indigenous to the soil, rose up in the auditorium, and thus delivered himself:

"You don't know why you are singin' eh? Gosh! I know if you don't! You're singin' to the tune of five dollars a head, and I reckon dad's hogs will have to suffer for my ticket!"

A FUNERAL DISCOURSE.

The readers of the drawer have, within the past year or two, been edified with the perusal of a sermon on The harp of a Thousand Strings and the Farewell discourse of Brother Watkins, and the tone of those discourses might, in a general way, be called pleasing. Not so, however, the following brief allusion from the pulpit to a young man of indifferent position in the social circle of B——, N. H., who came to an early decease by a vigorous but absurdly unequal contest with a party of the Otard family. The preacher who officiated at the final solemnities improved the occasion by making the following remarks:

"I hev ben requested, not to say importuned, too deliver a funeral discourse on this occasion, and hev reluctently consented to do so. I never heerd any good yit; and if the friends hev made up their minds that I am about to begin sech a course now they are very much mistaken. I estimate in fact, that this young man now a-layin' before you, was about the wust young man, ever permitted, in the onscrutable ways of divine peppusses, too locate in this vicinity. He was one whom I might say allers fell when he was tempted; and he certingly appeared too me too seek, rather that too avoid, occasions for sech temptation.

"Why, my feller Christians, he kep' hosses and run em'; he kep' cocks and fit 'em; and as too wimmin, let his widder (who I see settin in a front pew) testify. (Here the widow arose as was the custom when the family of the dedeased was alluded to, and deeming it a complimentary remark, courtseyed to the preacher.) "In short after a diligent inquiry into the pertickerlers of his kerricter and conduct while he has resided in this villege, I hev cum to the conclusion that about the only good thing that kin be said of him at all is that he was an active member of the ingine company, and occasionally good at fires.

"The pall-bearers will now proceed to bear out the corpse, while the choir will sing, as an appropriate hymn, the 23d hymn, 2d book, short metre, four verses, omitting, if you please the 3d and 5th stanza:

"Believing, we rejoice Too see the cuss removed,"

with the usual doxology."—Editor's Drawer, in Harper's Magazine.

A large number of the male members of our concert and theater audiences, as soon as an intermission occurs, rush from the hall or theatre, disturbing every one sitting near them and annoying all decent people present, for the purpose of obtaining liquid refreshments. After the concert or play has been resumed, the crowd of men come in disturbing the quiet people again, and bringing an odor of gin or whisky, which no amount of cloves will disguise, thoroughly scenting the whole house, and disgusting people who can manage to go without the bottle for an hour or two. If the old and middle-aged people have become slaves to a debasing appetite, which robs them of their manhood, the young men should be ashamed to be seen training themselves to become drunkards. It has become an easy matter to tell the topers in an audience, and those who do not wish to be classed in that category must refrain from joining the number who habitually leave their seats at intermission.—Folio.

COUNT OTTO VON BISMARCK.

As a parliamentary speaker, Count Bismarck commands attention by the weight of his thoughts and the importance which his position gives to every thing that falls from his lips. His voice, though clear and audible, is dry, hard, and unsympathetic; and his manner, lolling and negligent, seems to express the thorough contempt he is known to entertain for parlimentary forms. When addressing the Chambers he usually stands in a leaning attitude, twirling a pen in one hand, and occasionally glancing at the papers on his desk, and speaks without gestures in a halting monotonous tone, often repeating himself, as if forgetting what he had just uttered, and frequently stammering in a painful manner. One who has often listened to him says: "He appears to struggle with his thoughts, and the words clamber over his lips in a half reluctant way. After two or three words he continually pauses, and one seems to hear an inarticulate sob." But, when roused, he sometimes closes with a well delivered and vigorous peroration. Upon occasions he can be terribly bitter and scornful, but he never warms into eloquence.

In private life he is one of the most pleasant of men, genial, witty, and inclined to social familiarity. His conversation is sparkling, and few men tell an anecdote with better effect. His fondness for female society has given rise to several piquant stories at his expense; and so much scandal was occasioned recently by a photograph in which he and a noted female singer were represented together, that he felt compelled to explain the circumstance in a letter which was published in the German newspapers. But since the days of his youthful follies, when he was known as "Mad Bismarck," his private life has been without reproach. As a statesman his career is open to the severest criticism. Arbitrary, self willed, imperious, impatient of opposition, and unscrupulous in the use of means to attain his ends, he governs with the strong hand of absolute power, and crushes out every attempt to assert the political freedom of the individual or the masses. His political ideas are those of a born feudalist. Connected by family, by tradition, by education, and by early prepossessions, with the aristocracy of Prussia, he has never sympathized with modern ideas of popular rights. To him they appear monstrous and subversive of law and order. He believes firmly in the absolute right of the king to rule alone, and regards every check upon the royal will as an infringement of divine prerogatives and a step toward social anarchy. This explains his contemptuous and arbitrary treatment of the representatives of the people in the Prussian Chambers, and his arrogant assumption of the right to carry out his royal master's policy without their consent and in face of their opposition. It serves to explain, also, his attitude toward other German states. He saw that every where in Germany except Prussia liberal ideas were making headway, and that the military organization of that state alone offered an effectual barrier to their progress and ultimate triumph. He regards the throne and the army as the only true foundations of a state. He will make use of public opinion, when it agrees with his own, to further his own designs, but will neither follow it nor allow it to govern him. From the emperor of France he learned to cheat the people with the semblance of liberty, and self government, and to make universal suffrage the ignorant and servile agent of absolutism.—S. S. CONANT, in Harper's Magazine for April.

A male tyrant in Chicago finds fault because his wife threw dishes in his face while he was sick and helpless. Being a woman of proper spirit, she has gone to Omaha with a gambler.

THE MERCHANT'S MISTAKE.

In the spring of 1861, a young man came down from Vermont, where he had been engaged in school teaching, and obtained a situation as salesman with a merchant doing quite a snug business in one of our inland cities. In a very short time the youth proved himself to be not only an accomplished business man, but a gentleman—kind, affable, and withal, patient and long suffering under the dire infliction of purchasers' whims and caprices. Only one fault had the merchant to find. After a time he fancied that his new salesman was a little too lax in concealing chance defects in goods; and at length he came to the conclusion that the trouble was chronic. He called it a lamentable want of care and circumspection; and his patience was sorely tried when he saw fabrics put back upon the shelves which might have been sold.

One day a lady and a gentleman entered the store in quest of cloth. They had been appointed by a society to procure the materials for one hundred suits of underclothing for a company of volunteers who were going to Washington in response to the president's call for more men. The lady had traded with the new salesman, and him she now sought.

'Ah, we have just the article,' volunteered the proprietor, who stood near. 'George, go down in the cellar and bring up a bolt of that fine Middlesex flannel.'

The young man went down and brought up the flannel:—a bolt containing fifty yards—and there were six more of the same sort, which they could have cheap, the merchant said.

The lady examined the texture of the fabric and pronounced it satisfactory.

'You know,' she said to the salesman, 'what we want this for. We do not wish to send our noble volunteers away upon their errand of devotion poorly provided for. There is much poor cloth in the market, which will hardly hold together after it is on for wear. You can warrant this?'

'No, madam; I cannot.'

'But you believe it to be firm and good—suitable for that purpose?'

The young man saw that the eyes of his employer were upon him, and he knew that his place depended upon his answer, but he could not be base and deceitful.

'I am sorry to be forced to tell you, madam, that the goods are not such as I can recommend, but we have flannel that I can safely warrant.'

In the end, the lady and her friend purchased two hundred yards of good cloth.

As soon as the party had left the store, the merchant opened his battery of wrath.

The young man boldly defended himself, and when he declared that he would never knowingly or willingly deceive a customer, he was told that his services were no longer required.

George A. enlisted in the very company for which the flannel had been purchased, and very soon it was whispered among those that had known him at the store and they were by far the greater portion of the customers, why he had left.

In July, 1862, George came home wounded, and as his injured limb promised to be weak for some time he got his discharge. While he was looking around for employment, the lady who had bought the flannel for the soldiers came to him, and offered to advance him the money with which to set up in business for himself. After a great deal of assurance and friendly persuasion on the part of quite a large number of the old customers of Mr. S., he accepted the offer.

Behold the result. The young merchant very soon became known throughout the town as the young man who would sacrifice place rather than wrong or deceive a customer. It was known too, why he had left the store of Mr. S.

Before the snows of winter came he was accounted one of the most successful merchants in the place; and when the first of the new year came, Mr. S., the shrewd and circumspect man, had shelves loaded with shop-worn goods and shoddy bought on credit; while upon his desk lay a number of notary missives, giving information of notes in bank protested.

In a temperance speech in Philadelphia on Friday night, Vice President Colfax said that "this was the anniversary of his connection with the temperance cause. Twenty-five years ago, when he was just reaching manhood, he assisted in the formation and installation of the officers of a division of the Sons of Temperance in the town where he then and now resides in Indiana. He was proud to say that he had from that day to this kept his pledge. He had found it during the twenty five years to be a safeguard and talisman, and when the time came for him to be gathered to his fathers, he could say that he had never in the days of his manhood tasted, touched or handled the intoxicating beverage."

A divorce seeking young colored woman of Cincinnati, plead her own case as follows: "Judge, I can't love dat dar nigger; he kickel me in the ribs once till he loosened all my insides."

PETROLEUM IN THE OLD WORLD

One of the most remarkable deposits of petroleum known exists in the region of the Caucassus. On the east coast of the Caspian sea there are no less than twenty thousand petroleum wells. Although they have been known for generations, it is only within the last few years that they have been worked on a large scale. They are generally of a slight depth, and are frequently found beside each other. A new source was recently discovered beside an old one, which for centuries has daily produced thirty-four hundred pounds of petroleum, and which is not in the slightest degree affected by the vicinity of the new source, which daily produces forty thousand pounds. The American system has lately been applied to them; the sources rising from a depth of two hundred and fifty feet, frequently overflow their orifice and ascend above it in jets to the height of fifty to sixty feet. It is calculated that the district of the Caucasus yields annually nineteen million pounds of petroleum, and two hundred thousand pounds of parafine of asphalt.

The best English authorities declare that for every shilling expended for rum, another shilling must be added for the expense of crime, pauperism, and misery occasioned thereby. And in our own country facts and statistics are no less startling. One billion dollars is the actual cost of the traffic and use of strong drink in our land! If this vast sum were to be leveled upon our country as a tax, each man, woman and child would have to pay $33. The annual tax of a family of six persons would amount to nearly $200. The sale and use of intoxicating drinks actually cost this country more than the current expenses of the national government, with all the financial burdens of the late rebellion upon it!

This is something for our readers to think of, and after this, the money side of the question is the least important in its aspects.

Why do people cough in church? Tell us ye optimists! The editor of a neighboring paper has always noticed when at church that if one person gave vent to a loud cough, it is immediately answered by half a score of others. Now, are they reminded by it that they all have coughs, or do they cough from sympathy? It is recorded of a certain French preacher that he marked certain places in his manuscript sermons where he should cough, and that his congregation coughed whenever he did, and maintained a strict and to the preacher, agreeable silence during the rest of the discourse. If the churchgoers of to day would do like wise, and only cough between the heads of a discourse, instead of barking at every comma and period, it would be good.

Bucyrus, August 10, 1869.

Dr. C. W. Roback—Sir: I feel anxious to tell to the world the wonderful benefit I have received from the Scandinavian blood purifier and pills. I have been troubled with dyspepsia for about thirty years, and in that time I have suffered enough to kill ten men. I have employed all the doctors in this part of the country, but they were of no use to me. I have used almost everything in the line of patent medicines, but all for no good, until I got some of your medicines of your agents, Messrs. Fulton & Clark, since which I feel like a new man. God bless you—may they always do as much good as they have done me.

The Independent.

Two Dollars a year, in advance.

Massillon, Wednesday, April 12.

The democrats elected Mr. English governor of Connecticut by a majority of 810, but the republicans have the legislature.

Cincinnati went republican by several thousands majority, and on the school question the Bible party succeeded in electing a small majority.

Rhode Island has gone republican by a decided majority.

In the tenth Ohio district Dr. Peck, republican, was elected to congress on the 4th inst, by a large majority. Mr. Hoag, his predecessor, was elected as a democrat in 1868 by over 900 majority—now Dr. Peck, republican, is chosen by over 2000 majority, indicating a change of some 3000 votes.

These signs imply that the democracy of these days is fast becoming more and more a hopeless minority.

The Woman Suffrage Convention which was held on the 6th and 7th inst, at Alliance was quite well attended, and the numbers and interest increased to the last. Mrs. Cutler and Mrs. Cole, we are informed by an old and valued friend, who was present, acquitted themselves with marked ability. As they favor freedom of discussion, invitation was extended to any persons present, who desired to participate should have opportunity. Several gentlemen availed themselves of this privilege, some favoring and others opposing the proposed reform Mr. Benton, president of Alliance college, Edwood Patterson, and several others favored the women's movement, while some of the preachers and lawyers of the town undertook to oppose it. The arguments of a part of these opponents were more original for their awkwardness and stupidity than for their appositeness to the question under consideration. For instance, a juvenile (at least in discretion) said—"That women are not fitted to bear the responsibility [of voting]—it is wrong in logic—in truth, and untenable. She is a part of man—an appendage. Man is an unfinished product of nature, not perfect without woman," &c. If his doctrine is correct it would take considerable of a woman to complete this specimen of a homo. Others used equally absurd language, but certainly convinced nobody of the justness of their position or the solidity of their arguments. All this was mere amusement to Mrs. C. and her co workers—it was about as gossamer to the hurricane—swept away as the merest cobwebs with scarce a needed breeze of effort. We might advert to many other particulars furnished by the copious notes of our good friend, but want of space precludes the possibility of carrying out this cherished desire. The following resolutions embrace the scope of the discussion, and were adopted. They embrace nothing less than self evident truths.

Resolved, That the doctrine of human rights as taught by our forefathers in the Declaration of Independence is the only just and equitable foundation on which human government can rest, and that any important deviation therefrom has been fraught with injury to both the the oppressor and the oppressed.

Resolved, That the opponents of the equal rights of women to representation in the government with men are compelled to deny the first principles of republicanism, or else admit the claims of women to equal representation.

Resolved, That all governments shall, by their recognition of equal rights of women, render her justice, there is no hope that individuals will respond to her just claims for equal remuneration in the various departments of labor.

Resolved, That it is of vital importance to the perpetuity of our government and its universal acceptance that the disabilities which are now imposed upon women should be removed as speedily as the growing enlightenment of our country will permit—a change made not only possible but imminent by the enlargement and Christian development of the men of our time, who now stand foremost in the ranks of literature, statesmanship and religion.

Resolved, That the education of women should be made one of the great objects of our enterprise, and this education should be no narrow and restricted field, but should first comprehend physical culture, the moral obligations, including the duty of all to use their powers in the noblest spheres of action, legal relations and the grand requirements that teach the universal fatherhood of God and the paternal relations of his children.

Resolved, That the 15th amendment having been ratified, and the right of suffrage given to the colored people, we now ask the 16th amendment to the constitution giving to women the right of suffrage—this amendment requiring no change in the state or national constitutions

The following are the officers:—President, J. D. Cattell, Salem; vice presidents, Hugh Blakely, of Stark, Jacob Heaton, Columbiana, Eli Messimore, Carroll, Dr. Updigraff, Jefferson; executive committee, Mrs. McBrown, Alliance, John B. Milnor, Alliance, Marius Robinson, Salem, O., Esther Harris, Solomon Lilly, Alliance; Recording secretary, Mrs. Emma Parker, Corresponding secretary, Mrs. Hannah Brooke; Treasurer, Mrs. E. A. Walton.

McFarland, the man who shot A. D. Richardson some months since, is now on trial. Several days were spent in empannelling a jury, and the trial is now in progress. The prosecution have opened the case by presenting the leading facts in the case, and the defence are now having extenuating testimony in behalf of their client, one leading point of which is that he was laboring under a fit of insanity. The daily papers are giving the testimony in detail.

The national antislavery society needs no defence from its friends, as its life and actions speak loudly enough in its behalf to all who possess sympathizing hearts and appreciating minds. The great work which it undertook nearly forty years since has been accomplished, and on last Saturday a large number of its leading friends met in New York on which occasion they officially proclaimed that the society was disbanded. This was all right and proper. The agency this association wielded in behalf of the abolition of slavery will fill an important page in the history of our country—it was the forerunner to freedom to millions of bondmen. A few proslavery papers, some even professing to be republican, whose managers are evidently dissatisfied, that the largest god they ever knew or cared for (slavery,) is now dead, yet they can't cease their slanders and abuse of abolitionists. Like little dogs barking at the moon, their yelps will have no more effect hereafter in the diffusion of the principles of equal rights than they heretofore wielded in behalf of a rotten and now fallen cause.

PLANTATION BITTERS
S. T.—1860—X.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid, it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits. The Great Medical Discovery!
Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS.

More than 500,000 persons bear testimony to their curative effects.

For Female Complaints, whether in old or young, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or the turn of life, these tonic bitters have no equal. Send for a circular.

What are They?

They are a gentle purgative as well as a tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving congestion or inflamation of the liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

THEY ARE NOT A
VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of poor rum, whisky, proof spirits, and refuse liquor, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called tonics, appetizers, restorers, &c., that lead the tipler on to drunkeness and ruin, but are a true medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all alcoholic stimulants.

They are the great blood purifier and life giving principle, a perfect renovater and invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell.

$100 will be given for an incurable case, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For inflamatory and chronic rheumatism, and gout, dyspepsia, or indigestion, bilious, remittent, and intermittent fevers, disease of the blood, liver, kidneys and bladder, these bitters have been most successful. Such diseases are caused by vitiated blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the digestive organs.

Cleanse and vitiate blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions or sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when you find it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

Pin, tape, and other worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed.

In bilious, remittent and intermittent fevers, these bitters have no equal. For full directions read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

CAHOON'S
Patent Rroadcast Seed Sower,
FOR SOWING
Wheat, Oats, Hemp, Barley, Rye, Buckwhea Grass Seed, Rice Flax, &c.

The Hand Machine Costs only $10.

And sows from four to eight acres per hour at a common walking gait, throwing out wheat about forty feet wide.

The Horse Power Machine Costs Only $50

And at the usual walking gait of a horse, sows from ten to fifteen acres per hour By changing the discharger this machine sows Guano, Plaster, Lime, &c.

The hand machine, at a common walking gait, sows from four to eight acres per hour. The acknowledged superiority of these machines over all others has already placed them in the front rank of labor saving agricultural implements. A saving of four fifths of the labor, and one third of the seed used in hand sowing, is effected by using these machines. A person entirely unused to sowing by hand can use either machine with perfect success.

They are warranted to give perfect satisfaction, and to save their cost in less time than any farm implement yet introduced. They are substantially built, and with ordinary care will last many years.

D. H. GOODELL & CO.,
SOLE MANUFACTURERS.
Antrim, New Hampshire.

The unprecedented success of this Seeder the past year is without parallel in the history of agricultural implements. It has probably received more first premiums at large fairs in the year 1869, than was ever awarded to any other machine, of any name or nature in one year.

It received the first premium at the great fair held at St. Louis, and at the New England fair held at Portland, Maine, and at the New York, Maryland, North Carolina, Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Mississippi, and California State Fairs, and at multitudes of smaller fairs all over the country.

We warrant the hand machine to sow Fifty Acres of Wheat in Ten Hours, and the horse power machine to sow One Hundred and Twenty Acres in the same time, and the work to be done with greater precision and accuracy than can be done by agy other means whatever.

We might append hundreds of certificates, speaking its praise in the highest terms.

Tobias' Derby condition powders are warranted superior to any others or no pay, for the cure of distemper, worms, bots, coughs, hide-bound, colds, &c., in horses, and colds, coughs, loss of milk, black tongue, horn distemper, &c., in cattle. These powders were formerly put up by Simpson I. Tobias, son of Dr. Tobias, and since his death the demand has been so great that Dr. Tobias has continued to manufacture them. They are perfectly safe and innocent; no need of stopping the working of your animals. They increase the appetite, give a fine coat, cleanse the stomach and urinary organs, and increase the milk of cows. Try them and you will never be without them. Col. Philo P. ATHENS, ATHENS CO., O., August 10, 1859.

DR. C. W. ROBACK,

Dear Sir:—Permit me to say in relation to your Scandinavian Blood Pills and Blood Purifier, that I have used several boxes and bottles, and have found their effects on my system to be all that is claimed for them in your advertisements. I have also seen the effects of your Pills upon a child four or five years old, in expelling worms from the bowels.—One dose given the child, confined to the bed, and apparently very sick, caused the worms to come away from it in great numbers, and they were found crawling and scattered all about. The child thus relieved recovered immediately, and is now well and hearty.

Yours, &c.

THE FIFTEENTH AMENDMENT.—The ratification of this much needed amendment to the constitution has been hailed in many places throughout the country with unusual demonstrations of approval. Large meetings have been held in the eastern and other cities which were addressed by leading men, all of whom expressed sincere and earnest satisfaction at this great step toward political equality throughout the union. Although many felt opposed to the measure for a long time, and even did what they could to prevent it, since the completion of the work are now reconciled, and but little if any opposition is evinced, especially in the north. In the south a certain portion of the people may yet have to learn that the thing is a reality. Measures are already taken, in this vicinity, to have a general demonstration of approval, which is to take place on Monday the 25th inst. It is expected that a distinguished and able orator of Boston, Charles L. Remond, will be present to address the people who may come together on that occasion. We have not full particulars at this writing, but it is possible other gentlemen of distinguished ability may be present and participate in the demonstration. The speaking is to take place in the Opera House, which will hold a large concourse of people, and pretty certain it will be crowded on that occasion. Fuller particulars will appear hereafter.

EVERY SATURDAY, No. 15, contains the first instalment of Mr. Dicken's new story, "The Mystery of Edwin Drood." This is published from advance sheets, by special arrangement with Mr. Dickens, and appears simultaneously with its publication in England. It is accompanied by the illustrations drawn for the English edition by Mr. Fildes, under the supervision of Mr. Dickens himself. Those who desire to read this great story in its earliest and only authorized form in America, can find it in Every Saturday.

This number of Every Saturday is rendered additionally attractive by an excellent new portrait of Mr. Dickens, and views of his residence at Gad's Hill Place. A supplement is issued with the number, entitled "Mr. Pickwick's Reception," drawn expressly for this number by Mr. S. Eytinge, Jr. It represents the numerous personages of Mr. Dicken's novels passing before Mr. Pickwick, to whom they are pointed out by the trusty Sam Weller. The admirers of Mr. Dickens will easily recognize their favorites and aversions,—Mr. Pecksniff and his daughters, jolly Mark Tapley, Mr. Micawber and the twins, Fagin, the Artful Dodger, the Fat Boy trying to grow fatter, Little Nell and her Grandfather, Dombey, Bob Crotchit with Tiny Tim, and indeed almost the entire full of characters that throng Mr. Dicked's unequalled stores. A large and enthusiastic railroad meeting was held at Canton on Saturday evening the 2d inst and the way citizens subscribed in behalf of the work looks as if they were in earnest. Mr. Aultman led off with $50,000 himself, and others followed, making in all near $300,000.

The grain fields in this vicinity begin to put on a fine green color; and although the wheat is not large it looks healthy, and if nothing prevents a good harvest is promised—yet there are many contingencies to overcome between now and reaping time.

Spring vegetables have already been coming into market here, such as onions, radishes and lettuce. As to eggs, they are to be seen by the bushel at the groceries, but when easter comes, which is next Sunday, they will disappear rapidly, and unless hens perform double duty they will be overtaken.

TEMPERANCE.—On last Thursday evening Dr Underhill, among many others attended at Good Templar's Hall, where he delivered an excellent lecture in favor of temperance. Many of those who heard him were highly gratified with his treatment of the subject, for he goes to the root of the matter by explaining the construction and nature of the human system, then gives the result which alcohol will naturally produce. Of course, in one brief lecture it was impossible for him to condense all he wished to say, but to do justice to the subject and himself it will require a series of lectures; and with many others we hope he will soon return among us and be enabled to pursue the discussion to that extent which its importance requires.

Humberger & Son would call special attention to their stock of fine towels, napkins, linen shirt fronts and table linens. Call and see them they can suit you in price and goods.

Everybody who was at the Opera House Monday evening expresses the highest satisfaction at the success which crowned the representations on the stage by our citizens. Nobody was so unreasonable as to expect great professional attainments in the way of acting, yet the personations, in every particular, were complete—the actors filled the bill in all that they promised. A full house greeted their first appearance, and the frequent manifestations of applause gave evidence that all were delighted and satisfied.

A number of our people and others who who have witnessed similar exhibitions elsewhere, say that the presentation of the Union Spy, on Monday evening was superior to anything of the kind they has previously seen. There was no failure about the entire programme on Monday evening—all did well, and everybody was satisfied.

The school report which appears in today's paper will give our readers an idea of the condition of our Union Schools.

Please announce the name of J. N. Q. RAMSEY as a candidate for nomination for auditor, subject to republican primary election and oblige MANY VOTERS.

Those tableaux which were exhibited at frequent intervals, on Monday evening, seemed to be the perfection of art. Every figure appeared to be brilliant, yet there was a sort of dreamy, visionary aspect connected with them, which would almost cause the spectator to imagine he was asleep, and in the land of visions. But it was not all illusion, for the spirit like figures were seen to change positions, which indicated that there was a streak of humanity located in the beautiful but transient pictures.

Every evening this week it is expected that our veterans and other efficient assistants, the ladies, will be on the stage to present many of the exciting and well remembered scenes of the late war. As the beginning of the week opened auspiciously so let it be continued, as the object in all this effort is one which appeals to the best feelings of our natures—that of aiding those who were bereft of their chief support by the war.

A meeting of the qualified electors of Union School District No. 1, Perry township, Stark Co., O., was held on the evening of April 11th, 1870, at the school house in the city of Massillon, and R. H. Folger, Esq., was on motion of Mr. James Bayliss, made chairman. F. L Baldwin, on motion of Mr. J. S KeRey, secretary. The chairman briefly stated the object of the meeting to be the hearing of the reports of the directors, and the election of one director for the term of three years, to supply the place of Mr. James Bayliss, whose term had just expired. Thereupon Mr. James Bayliss, for the directors made the following report:

MASSILLON, O., April, 11, 1870.

The Board of Education of Union School District No 1, of Perry tp, beg leave to report that in accordance with instructions contained in resolutions adopted at our last annual meeting, directing us to complete the annexation of district No. 11 to our district, on such terms as we might deem equitable and proper; that we have perfected the annexation as directed, and secured fair terms with the township board through their very efficient president, David Murray, Esq. By reference to our financial report it will be noticed that in addition to deeding to us the old school lot with house on it, they have paid into our treasury $1,702.78.

In the next resolution we were directed to proceed without unnecessary delay to buy a suitable lot and erect a suitable house to accommodate the children west of the Ohio canal. We are glad to be able to report that we acted promptly in carrying out the resolution, and have bought a lot and made some progress toward getting up a good building; the foundation walls are completed and the brick and plaster work are let out by contract to responsible per ons, to be completed by the first of September next, in a good, substantial, workmanlike manner, at a very fair reasonable price in our judgment. We find the building is needed very much; the only two small rooms we have in West Massillon have been crowded almost beyond endurance this past winter, from 95 to 100 in one room, and 65 to 70 in the other, making it to ally impossible to do justice to the scholars, but we were fortunate in having good teachers and they did the best they could under the circumstances. We have a good corps of teachers, also, a good corps of examiners. All the scholars are progressing as well as we can expect, and the scholars and teachers all seem to take hold of their duties with renewed vigor after their week's vacation and rest.

The unavoidable absence of the clerk of the board will necessarialy make our report very brief. Below please find the financial report, showing total amount received from all sources to be $21,812.79, including, of course, the amount reported on hand at last annual meeting of $5,405.80. The expenditures for all purposes have been $14,601.41, leaving a balance of $7,208.38 on hand, subject to the order of the board. We recomend the adoption of the following resolution.

Resolved. That there be assessed a tax of six mills on the dollar valuation within Union School District No. 1, Perry tp. Stark Co. O., for school and school house purposes for the next school year. All of which is respectfully submitted.

On motion of A. C. Wales, the meeting adjourned.

Attest: F. L. BALDWIN, Sec'y.

The fifteenth amendment having been ratified by more than the required number of states and proclaimed the law of the land by the proper authority, the people are now expressing their approval by large and enthusiastic meetings in many of the large cities and towns in the country. Away off at St. Louis in the west, and at New York in the east, and many other places where processions were formed on such occasions no distinction was made on account of color. White and black men marched together to the music of the union, and nobody was hurt. A good example for our people to imitate.

It is but a simple act of justice to Miss Ida Zerbe, who had charge of the singing department at the late examination of the schools, to speak of the excellent taste with which the songs were selected, and the fine effect with which they were all rendered. Miss Zerbe has shown herself most competent for the position, and it is to be hoped that her services in this direction can be secured in the future.

A good story is told of a liquor dealer. He had sold a country customer a jug of whisky. A few days after the customer being dry, tried to draw a morning's potation, but lo! it would not run. On examination, he found in frozen over. Early in the day the country customer called for an explanation. 'I'll swear! them boys have gone and sold you summer whisky! Here, boys, change this for winter whisky."

THE TRUE

THEORY OF PURGATION

APPLIED TO THE

Liver, Kidneys, Skin,

STOMACH & BOWELS.

DR. RADWAY'S

PERFECT

PURGATIVE PILLS,

Perfectly Tasteless,

ELEGANTLY COATED.

MATERIA MEDICA contains, in its repertoire many purgative and cathartic agents that, for ordinary purposes, opens the bowels, and through what is called a "peristaltic" movement, purge from the alimentary canal the feces and this is all. Such agents, for the purpose of cure, or removal of any settled disease, are utterly useless.

Dr. RADWAY has completed one of the most essential discoveries in medical chemistry—in the combination of vegetable substances, for the purposes of a PURGATIVE, APERIANT, COUNTER-IRRITANT, ALTERATIVE PILL, that can be taken or administered with absolute certainty of securing THOROUGH EXPULSION OF ALL DECAYED AND DECOMPOSING Elements of the human body, and also safe to take in the most malignant of Eruptive Fevers. In cases where the mucous membranes of the internal viscera are suffering from Ulceration, Inflammation, or from

Gastric, Bilary, Pancreatic Complaints,

DR. RADWAY'S PILLS

Supply the only Vegetable substitute for

CALOMEL OR MERCURY.

In RADWAY'S PILLS you have one medicine that will secure quicker, more thorough and better results than will be given in from three or more different prescriptions of the medical practitioner. As a proof of this—You are seized with a Bilious attack! Doctor prescribes Blue Pills or Calomel! next, some Dandelion Pill or Powders to work off the effects of the Blue Pill; this prostrates you, and a tonic is next given, or a gentle aperient, whereas ONE DOSE OF RADWAY'S PILLS will do all the work that the three or more prescriptions are given for, without running any risk from mercurializing or salivating the system.

RADWAY'S PILLS.

In RADWAY'S PILLS, the true principle of purgation is secured—not alone to the office of dislodging the feces and excrements from the bowels by those tumors that are checked or stopped in their passage through the Skin, Kidneys, Lungs, and all excretive and secreting functions; for if these excrementous secretions belonging to the skin, liver, lungs, kidneys, are interrupted in their escape, they become products of decay and decomposition, and must be purged from the living body through their proper channels; hence the purgative qualities of RADWAY'S PILLS extend to the secretions of the SKIN, KIDNEYS, LIVER, &c.; whereas not one of the advertised Pills claim to act beyond the bowels.

How to Take Radway's Pills.

THEIR DAILY USE.

In doses of one or two pills, by all persons of a full habit of body, subject to giddiness, rush of blood to the head, palpitation of the heart, and all those subject to fits, will not only keep the blood from becoming congested or clogged up in the blood vessels, but will equalize its circulation, and prevent sudden attacks of apoplexy, disease of the heart, congestion. Persons who will take one of those pills every day will not suffer from Headaches, Dizziness, Hysterics, Fainting Spells, Pains around the Heart, and a hundred other disagreeable symptoms.

DYSPEPSIA.

One of RADWAY'S PILLS, two or three hours before dinner, taken daily, will keep the system free from DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, CONSTIPATION, COSTIVENESS, &c.

Bear in Mind,

RADWAY'S PILLS are the only purgative that will secure an alterative, diuretic, sudorific, aperient and tonic influence.

They are the only vegetable substitutes for Calomel or Mercury.

They promote the secretion of bile and withdraw it from the circulation.

They assist, through their nutritious properties, the chyme and chyle, and gastric juices in the process of digestion.

They are Elegantly Coated with Gum, Perfectly Tasteless, and free from Smell.

PRICE, Twenty-Five Cents per Box, or Five Boxes for One Dollar. Always ask for RADWAY'S PILLS, and see that the letters W. H. RADWAY, on one side of label, and the words Radway's Regulators on the other. Sold by Druggists and General Store Keepers, and at DR. RADWAY'S Medical Office, 87 Maiden Lane, New York.

Special Notices.

Life is the Gift of God.

When we are sick this life is obscured, under a cloud, oppressed with humors. Experience has taught us certain means, which never fail for their removal. The child receives with his life the seeds of his death. It may take one, or a hundred years, before the seeds bear their sad fruit, but just as sure as the seeds of death ripen, life ceases. Purging is the grand safeguard, because that what fosters the seeds of death are taken away, expelled from the body.

Govern Yourselves by Experience.

My child, aged five years, had scarlet fever, and for five days had constant fever. By order of the doctor I gave her syrup of rhubarb; she took nearly a pint, but her bowels continued closed. On the fifth day the doctor said her bowels must be opened or she would be lost. I proposed Baandreth's pills; to this he would not consent—saying she was too weak. I consulted with my husband, and we concluded to give her three pills. In about four hours they operated filling half full a common chamber. After that operation the feverfeft her, and she rapidly recovered. Reference, 206 Clermont Avenue, Brooklyn.

DYSPEPSIA REMEDY.

In offering this remedy to the public, we feel confident that every statement we make in regard to its curative properties will be fully verified by all who avail themselves of it. The prescription has been used in this city nearly ten years, and has never failed to effect a permanent cure whenever used in accordance with the directions, and the patient has had sufficient strength of mind to abstain from rich and indigestible food for a short time. In case of Heartburn, Waterbrash, Constipation, and Nervous Headache, arising from imperfect digestion, and all ailments which are produced from an abuse of that important organ, the stomach, it will afford permanent relief.

As an evidence that our statements can be fully relied upon, we refer the reader to the certificates below:

"For a number of years I was greatly afflicted with Dyspepsia, and although my stomach craved food, it would immediately reject it, should I eat anything, no matter how small the quantity. I was frequently compelled to leave the table without being able to take any nourishment. In a short time I became very much reduced in flesh, and was so weak that I was unable and unfit to attend to my business. My mind was in no better condition than my body, as I was continually oppressed with lassitude and depression of spirits. I tried all the patent medicines and prescriptions I could heard of, and some of these afforded me temporary relief, but in a short time I relapsed into my former condition.

"While suffering in this manner I heard of C. F. Galton's Dyspepsia Remedy, and concluded to try it. I had taken it but a short time when I began to feel relief, and continuing to take it, I soon found portions of my meals without any suffering either while at the table or afterwards, and gained flesh rapidly. It is now nearly two years since, and I have continued free from a return of the Dyspepsia—I can therefore recommend it to any one suffering in like manner.

"Respectfully yours, ANDREW J. NICHOLSON.
"PITTSBURGH, March 20, 1869."

"This is to certify, that during the early part of the summer of 1868 my wife was much troubled with Dyspepsia. She had a severe pain in her side, her appetite was variable, and she became quite sallow. After having used two bottles of C. F. Galton's Dyspepsia Remedy, her appetite became good, she was relieved from the severe pain in her side, and her complexion became good again, all of which I attribute to the use of C. F. Galton's Dyspepsia Remedy, and I have recommended it to all my friends and acquaintances. All that I can do to make its wonderful properties known, you can rest assured will be done. JAMES A. SMITH.
"PITTSBURGH, PA."

If you are suffering do not hesitate to buy a bottle of C. F. Galton's Dyspepsia Remedy, and satisfy yourself of its curative properties.

OCCUPATIONAL AILMENTS.

Fresh pure air is a vitalizing elixir ever is debarred by circumstances from an restricted access to this invisible, but powerful stimulant, needs a medicinal invigorant of some kind. The great object should be to choose the best. Popularity is a pretty good guarantee of merit in this scrutinizing and intelligent age, and tried by this criterion Hostetter's Stomach Bitters stands first among the invigorating and regulating medicines of the present day. To the wants of persons engaged in indoor employments, especially in crowded factories where even with the best possible ventilation the atmosphere is always in some degree polluted, this salubrious vegetable tonic is peculiarly adapted. The nature of the ingredients is no mystery. It consists of an absolutely pure diffusive stimulant, tinctured—or rather surcharged—with the fluid extracts sanatory roots and barks and herbs. The pharmacopœa has its tinctures, but what are they? The juice of only a single root or bark or plant is present in each. Not one of them combines the three properties of a tonic, an alterative, and an aperient. All these elements are blended in the bitters; nor are the sum of its medicinal recommendations. It is also a blood depurent and an antispasmodic.

The baleful effect which air that has been partially exhausted of its oxygen by frequent breathing produces on the vital organization, is notorious and when to this devitalized atmosphere is superadded the mephitic vapor of hot air furnaces, it becomes deleterious and depressing in the extreme. To enable the system to bear up even for a hours each day against the debilitating influence of a vitiated atmosphere, a wholesome tonic and alterative is urgently required. This grand desideratum is supplied in Hostetter's Bitters, which as a strength sustaining, health-protecting agent has no rival either among officinal or advertised medicines. It

Medical Properties Possessed By

BELTZHOOVER'S

Dyspeptic Bitters

Are fully attested by the certificates of well known gentlemen who have tested their virtues. Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Ague, General debility, and similar diseases are totally eradicated from the system by their use, while as a blood purifier and appetizer, they are unapproachable.

Dr S Beltzhoover, Scully & Co., the proprietors of these bitters, are manufacturing them expensively at their establishment, No. 77 Third avenue, Pittsburgh, and are prepared to fill all orders that may be sent to them.

At this season of the year the human system is generally in a debilitated condition and a tonic is necessary for the preservation of health. The Dyspeptic bitters are strongly recommended for their tonical virtues, and many persons are deriving great benefit from their use. These Litters are the best in the market, and are being generally adopted by our citizens.

A LIBRARY SMOKED AWAY.

Two school fellows, of equal age,
Were prenticed in one day:
The one was studiously inclined,
The other boy was gay.

The pocket money each received,
Was just the same amount,
And how they both expended it,
I briefly shall recount.

Whilst George was smoking his cigars,
And sauntering about
With youths as idle as himself,
Shutting all knowledge out;

At the Mechanic's Institute,
And with his books at home,
Tom closely spent his leisure hours,
Nor cared the streets to roam.

One eve, when his apprenticeship
Had nearly passed away,
George at his friend Tom's lodging called,
And hour or two to stay.

"Why, Tom" he cried, with much surprise
"Is your old uncle dead?
And left you cash to buy those books
That round the walls are spread?"

"Oh, no," said Tom, "I bought those books
With what my friends allowed:
Had you not smoked away your cash,
You might the same have showed!"

"Why, my Havanas only cost
Me ten cents every day!"
"Just so," said Tom, "you've only smoked
A library away!"

"Now reckon up ten cents a day,
For seven long years to come!
And you will find that it will count
A very handsome sum!"

A distinguished soldier of the late war, with whom the writer had the honor of serving at Vicksburg and elsewhere in the Mississippi Valley, and who is now governor of a western statute, was announced among a list of speakers who were to address a meeting on a certain occasion, at Chicago, as a "battle scared general." If the careless compositor had added another r to the italicized word, it would have been nearer the truth, and also what the editor wrote.

A New York editor thus introduced some verses: "The poem published last week was composed by an esteemed friend who has lain in his grave many years for his own amusement.

Hush money—the price of a family cradle.

Ants are more industrious than most uncles.

The gentleman who would fill a lighted kerosene lamp at Baltimore, the other night, is now in heaven.

Counter irritants—people who examine the whole stock and buy nothing.

When you hear a man say 'Life is but a dream,' tread on his corns and wake him up, Life is real.

Since the earthquakes, San Francisco contends with Philadelphia the claim to the title of Quaker City.

Some sour old bachelor says that the natural diet of an infant being milk its s-cream is easily accounted for.

Although the first woman was hardly an angel, Adam doubtless thought her an Evangel.

The following sentence from a recently published sensation novel shows the great importance of correct punctuation: "He enters on his head, his helmet on his feet, armed sandals upon his brow; there was a cloud on his right hand, his faithful sword in his eye, an angry glare; he sat down."

A schoolmaster asked his scholars if any of them could quote a passage of Scripture which forbade a man having two wives, whereupon nearly the whole school cried out: "No man can have two masters."

MRS. ALLEN'S

Hair Restorer & Zylobalsamum

Are so uniformly grateful and beneficial, that they are with justice called the natural strengtheners of the human hair. They are two entirely separate and distinct preparations, not to be used together at one time.

Mrs. Allen's Hair Restorer

Never fails to satisfy the most refined and cultivated. A guarantee goes with every bottle, that it will quickly restore gray or white hair to its original youthful beauty, gloss and color; after its use a few times the hair will grow thicker and stronger. It will stop its falling and induce a healthy and luxuriant growth. It is an exquisite hair dressing, agreeable, harmless and healthy. Entirely different from most other preparations for the hair, its composition and ingredients are nourishing, giving life and vigor to the Roots.

Mrs. Allen's Zylobalsamum

This exquisite preparation is free from any sediment, and is a toilet treasure. The urgent want of a simple Hair Dressing, for the youth of both sexes, first induced the manufacture of the Zylobalsamum, and the sale of it is perfectly immense, not only in this country, but in Europe.

EXTRACTS FROM A FEW LETTERS.

"Your Zylobalsamum is used by every member, young and old, of our family, and we consider it invaluable. Should any gray hairs appear, we shall try your Hair Restorer, which we hear very highly spoken of."

"Father and mother use your Hair Restorer, and are delighted with it. It soon restored their gray locks to their youthful color, but daughters and son still find in the Zylobalsamum all their hair requires."

From the Principal of one of our large Female Seminaries: "Your Zylobalsamum has been used for many years by myself and family, and is the favorite among our young ladies."

This is no patent medicine humbug, gotten up to dupe the ignorant and credulous, nor is it represented as being "composed of rare and precious substances brought from the four corners of the earth, carried seven times across the Great Desert of Saharah on the backs of fourteen camels, and brought across the Atlantic Ocean on two ships." It is a simple, mild, soothing Remedy, a perfect Specific for Catarrh and "Cold in the head," also for offensive Breath, Loss or Impairment of the Sense of smell, Taste or Hearing, Watering or Weak Eyes, Pain or Pressure in the Head, when caused, as they all not unfrequently are, by the violence of Catarrh.

We offer, in good faith, a standing Reward of $500 for a case of Catarrh that we cannot cure.
